The Smith Family Enterprise Initiative

Dear Sam, Sally, Steve and Susan,

As we sit down to reflect on our journey, we are filled with gratitude for the life we have built together—not only as husband and wife but as business partners, parents, and now grandparents. When we first married at the age of 25, we took a leap of faith and purchased our first supermarket. We worked tirelessly to grow that single store into what is now Smith Family Foods, Inc., a thriving chain of 25 supermarkets across three states in the Midwest. More importantly, we built something that has kept our family close, giving all of you a foundation in which to learn, grow, and develop valuable skills.

Each of you has played a role in shaping the business, working in the stores as you grew up. Sam, you are now leading our incredible new Business Model developments as our Chief Business Innovation Officer. Sally, your passion for new ideas inspires us, and we are excited to see your growth as our Chief Technology Officer as you have worked hard to develop our e-commerce food business. Steve, while your aspirations lie outside the food industry, we admire your entrepreneurial spirit and are committed to helping you build a business of your own. Susan, though your path has led you to medicine, we are proud of the way you uphold our family values in your profession. And of course, our greatest joy is seeing our eight grandchildren growing up surrounded by the same values of hard work, integrity, and family that have guided us from the beginning.

We have always believed that our family's financial and business success should extend beyond just the food business. That is why we have thoughtfully invested in an Investment Portfolio and preserved our cherished Minnesota lake home—a place that holds so many wonderful memories for all of us. It is our hope that this home remains a gathering place for generations to come.

Looking ahead, we recognize that business, technology, and demographics are ever-changing. To ensure the long-term success of Smith Family Foods and our Family's financial security, as you know from our discussions, we are establishing The Smith Family Enterprise Initiative. This initiative will help us navigate the future with a clear plan for leadership, growth, and diversification, ensuring that our Family Businesses—and our Family's Values—endure for generations.

We are incredibly proud of each of you and excited for what the future holds. This is more than just a Family Business. This is our Family Legacy. Thank you for being part of this exciting journey with us.

Now ... let's get on it! Our first next step is to meet again with our Trusted Advisor Team. They will help guide us in setting our priorities and path.

With love and gratitude,

Dad

Our Family Enterprise Mindset: Always Be Asking 3 Key Questions

1. Discover. What will be the probable, almost certain, future outcome of our present course, if left unchanged?

2. Decide. What's missing - the presence of which will make a substantial difference in producing a better future outcome?

3. Deploy. What do we need to do next to move ahead with speed, clarity and focus to deploy what's missing?

From Running The Family Business ... To Running The Business of The Family

We Intend To Avoid These Trainwrecks:

How We Discovered the Family Enterprise Initiative

We want to share with our Family how this journey began—the journey we've named: The Smith Family Enterprise Initiative.

Running and growing the Smith Family Foods Business has been an incredible experience. But we've also wondered how to best prepare for the future—not just for the Family Business, but for the Family as a whole.

Like many Family Business Leaders, we've asked ourselves: What happens after us? What's the best way to protect what we've built while creating opportunities for all of you?

We didn't have a clear answer. But then something unexpected happened.

A Trusted Advisor Opens a Door

One of our most trusted advisors is our Financial Advisor, Peter Piper. He has been working with us for years. He had recently attended a national business conference. While there, he heard a presentation by Nick Niemann, a Family Enterprise Attorney, who has worked with hundreds of Family Business Leaders across the United States. He works with families to create both short term and long-term strategies for growth, leadership, and continuity.

Peter immediately saw the value of this with many of the families he works with. Nick wasn't just talking about Business Succession or Estate Planning. He was sharing a larger approach—and a larger vision. What he calls The Family Enterprise Initiative. This is an organized framework that enables families like ours to grow our Family Business and to grow the Family Relationships, Values, and Purposes that give continued meaning to our Family and our Family Business.

Peter thought of us immediately. Peter reached out to Nick after the conference and discussed the Family Enterprise Initiative in more detail. He offered to Peter what he offers to all other Trusted Advisors. He offered the opportunity to have a no-obligation, no-cost introductory Zoom call with us, Peter and our other most Trusted Advisor, Sally Seashell, our CPA.

Our Zoom Call - The 3 Key Questions

Before the Zoom Call, with our permission, Peter and Sally provided Nick (on a confidential basis) a Personal Information and Financial Information Data Sheet (on the form Nick provided).

Before the Zoom Call, Peter also provided us a copy of a Sample Family Enterprise Game Plan for us to review.

On our introductory Zoom Call we discussed the Family Enterprise Initiative. We also discussed our Family Business and whether we believed we are what Nick referred to as a "High-Performance Legacy Family." Towards the end of the call, Nick asked us 3 Key Questions - which would impact whether he would agree to work with us and which showed to us why these questions were key to our Family's future. These questions changed how we thought about the future.

Key Question #1-Discover: "Were we willing to honestly discover the probable, almost certain, future outcome of our present course if left unchanged?"

We answered: Yes. We realized that without a better structure, we could face the same challenges that cause many Family Businesses and Families to fragment over time.

Key Question #2-Decide: "Were we willing to decide what was missing—the presence of which would make a substantial difference in producing a better future outcome?"

We answered: Yes. We acknowledged that while we have strong values and hard work, we didn't yet have a formal plan to guide the Family forward.

Key Question #3-Deploy: "Were we willing to do what we needed to do next to move ahead with speed, clarity, and focus to deploy what was missing?"

We answered: Yes. Because we owe it to both us and to all of you—and to the next generation—to lead with purpose, not just hope.

The Next Step: Designing Our Family Enterprise Game Plan

Based on that conversation, Nick agreed to work with us and we decided to engage Nick, Peter and Sally to work with our Family to design what Nick calls a Family Enterprise Game Plan—a clear, actionable roadmap.

As Nick emphasized to us, this isn't about controlling anyone's path. It's about creating clarity, opportunity, and unity—for all of us, and for generations to come.

Why We Are Mentioning This In Our Game Plan

We want our Family to know how intentional we've been about this process. This wasn't something imposed on us. It's something we chose because we love our Family and we care deeply about where we're headed. And because we had an "AHA Moment": We realized that what got us to this point would not be enough to carry us through the challenges and opportunities of the future.

No Profit Strategy. Our leadership team doesn't effectively deal with business innovation roadblocks.

No Pioneer Mindset. A "fear of change" mindset is overtaken by today's massive Business Model disruptions.

Declining Business Model. Our Business Model misfires, declines or fails.

Poor Company Culture. Poor Company culture deflates our team performance and customer loyalty.

No Strategic Thinking. External forces (competitors, insurgents, economy, technology, government) start to beat us.

Business Static. Business expansion opportunities start to be lost or ignored.

Business Not Protected. Business disputes and litigation losses deplete our business resources.

Ownership Not Protected. Company ownership is not correctly controlled or funded with the right buy-sell -hold options.

Continuity Not Protected. Avoidable co-owner disputes crush us.

Team Not Protected. Leadership team members leave to find better opportunities elsewhere.

Stability Not Protected. Company hits the skids if CEO/President is lost unexpectedly by illness, accident or death.

Wealth Not Protected. Personal risk exposures deplete our personal resources.

No Lifestyle Continuity. Inadequate Estate Plan controls damage our Company and deplete Family wealth.

Bloodline Failure. Bloodline wealth opportunities wasted.

Family Ownership Misallocated. Wrong Family members become Company owners or receive control.

Family Disputes. Business and estate disputes damage our Family.

Family Ownership Not Controlled. Wrong Family members remain Company owners or remain in control.

Estate Taxes. Estate tax hit.

Business Value Insufficient. Insufficient cash-in-pocket to meet our business and personal needs or objectives.

No Capable Successor. Wrong successor, no successor, or great successor leaves (to go help our competitor).

Not Always Ready. Company not always in prime condition to be operated, transferred or sold.

Income Taxes. Income tax hit.

No Viable Internal Transfer. No effective inside route succession or exit.

No Viable External Sale. No effective outside route exit.

The Smith Family Enterprise - Code Of Conduct -

Culture is the foundation of both our Family Business and our broader Family Enterprise. It shapes how we lead, collaborate, and make decisions that impact generations to come.

A strong Culture ensures that our values endure, guiding us through challenges and opportunities alike.

Culture is what binds us together and sets the tone for our long-term success.

At the heart of our Family Enterprise are 7 Guiding Principles that define what we call our Root Force Culture:

- Tenacity: We embrace challenges with determination, resilience, and an unwavering commitment to our long-term vision.
- Respect: We honor each other's contributions, perspectives, and roles, fostering a Family and Business environment built on dignity and inclusion.
- Trust: We act with integrity and transparency, ensuring that trust remains the foundation of our relationships and decision-making.
- Courage: We take bold yet thoughtful actions, embracing change and innovation while staying true to our core values.
- Generosity: We share our success by giving back - supporting one another, our employees, and the communities we serve.
- Compassion: We lead with empathy, recognizing the importance of Family and Colleague bonds and the well-being of those around us.
- Enthusiasm: We bring passion and energy to our work, Family interactions, and shared experiences, inspiring each generation to contribute meaningfully.

These 7 Guiding Principles represent our Code of Conduct. These represent how we think and how we act.

By embedding these principles into everything we do, we create a Culture that strengthens our Family Business and our Family Enterprise, sustains our Legacy, and empowers our future generations to lead with confidence and integrity.

"Why do so many Families & Family Businesses fail?"

As Family Business Leaders we are aware of the 3 mindset bias traps, which Neuroscientists have named:

- "Optimism Bias": When we falsely believe our chance of experiencing a positive outcome is higher or a negative event is lower, than it actually is (i.e. "Bad things won't happen to me; these only happen to others").
- "Confirmation Bias": The tendency to search for, interpret and recall information in a way that supports what we already believe.
- "Illusion of Control Bias": The tendency to overestimate how much control you have over the outcome of uncontrollable events.

We are now very aware of these mindset bias traps. We will avoid these traps.

The Family Enterprise Initiative

Are We A “High-Performance Legacy Family”?

This is the first question to be answered. This presents a fork in the road—where only one direction leads to establishing a Family Enterprise. A High-Performance Legacy Family is a family which intentionally preserves and passes down its core values, wealth, knowledge, and impact over time. More than just financial success or business longevity, a legacy family prioritizes the continuity of its principles, traditions, and contributions to society. It actively nurtures family unity, leadership development, and Stewardship, ensuring that each generation upholds and continues to develop the family's mission while adapting to changing circumstances. It is guided by an intentional shared commitment to creating lasting value—whether in business, investments, philanthropy, or community engagement—while strengthening family bonds across generations.

What Is A “Family Enterprise”?

A Family Enterprise is the collaborative initiative by a High-Performance Legacy Family who wish to create a True Legacy for present and future family members. This initiative is often centered around a Family Business and is aimed at strengthening family cohesion and cultivating the skills and talents of family members—today and into the future. It extends beyond a single-Family Business to include investment ventures, real estate holdings, philanthropic initiatives, and other shared endeavors that contribute to the family's financial, intellectual, social, and cultural legacy. A Family Enterprise is guided by shared values, a long-term vision, and a commitment to sustaining both wealth and relationships across multiple generations.

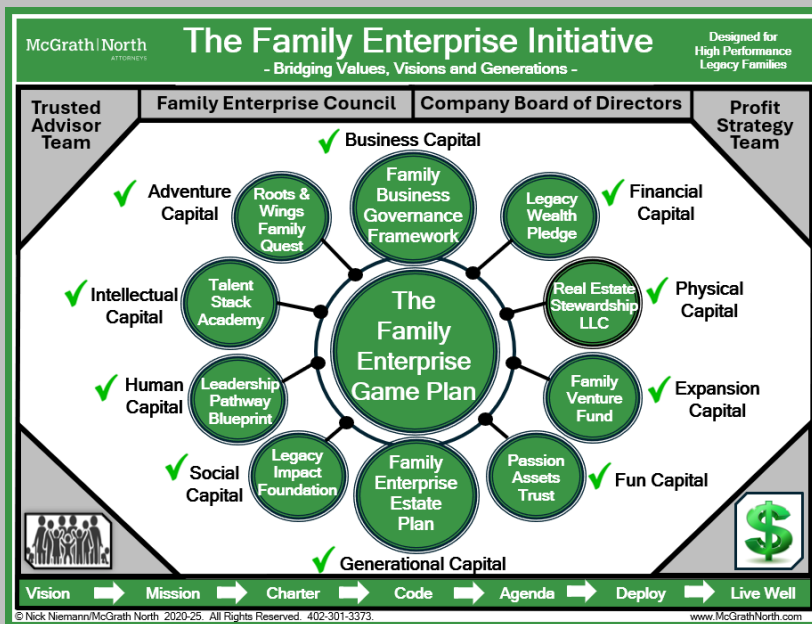

How Do We Deploy Stewardship in an Era of Rapid Change

For generations, Stewardship in Family Enterprises has been understood as preserving the present Family Business and trying to ensure its continuity for future generations. However, in today's fast-changing world—industries change rapidly, businesses rise and fall, technologies advance, generational interests shift, and family members' capabilities develop in diverse ways. Simply clinging to an existing business without innovation and adaptability can lead to failure. In many cases, families have sustained struggling businesses beyond viability, ultimately eroding wealth, credibility and family unity.

True Stewardship today must go beyond caretaking; it should focus on creating value across multiple dimensions, including financial strength, innovation, social impact, relationships, and talent development. This requires viewing the Family Enterprise as a dynamic portfolio of assets and initiatives rather than being solely tied to one company. This may mean continuing to own and innovate the existing Family Business. Or it may mean exiting the present Family Business and re-deploying wealth elsewhere for the family. A foundation of shared values provides direction for those decisions, fostering unity, pride, and long-term commitment. This broader perspective is essential for sustaining a thriving Family Enterprise in the world of today and tomorrow.
